McKechan gets teaching position

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Former Board of Education member Jerry McKechan, who resigned from the board last week, has been hired as a District 9 teacher.

The board appointed McKechan as a Grigsby Jr. High physical education teacher at its meeting last Tuesday night. McKechan was recommended by Superintendent Gilbert Walmsley.

Walmsley said no agreement had been made to hire McKechan when he resigned from the board. He said McKechan was the best applicant for the job.

"WE TALKED seriously with five other candidates. He was the candidate I recommended," Walmsley said.

He said McKechan's previous board position was discussed as possibly having the appearance of a conflict, but said McKechan's experience as a coach and high school teacher for 15 years was enough to qualify him for the teaching position.

Personnel Director Terry Salem said McKechan was not chosen over other qualified teachers. He said the recall list for physical education teachers has been exhausted.

McKechan was not on the recall list. WALMSLEY SAID an opening occurred at Grigsby because a physical education teacher on the recall list resigned from a high school position that was offered to her this year.

In a complicated series of transfers and recalls that involved the necessity of having a male to be a physical education instructor at Grigsby, the Grigsby position opened up last week, said Walmsley.

McKechan had worked as a District 9 teacher and coach for 15 years before he was one of many teachers honorably dismissed in 1983 due to budget and staff cutbacks.

HE WAS ELECTED last November to the board for a four-year term.

His current appointment is a full-time teaching assignment.

The board is expected to name a board replacement for McKechan at a special meeting next Tuesday.

Residents oppose condos

By Bill Bagby

GRANITE CITY — Opposition to the construction of 100 condominiums on a vacant lot at the end of Villa Drive was voiced at an informal meeting held Wednesday evening.

About 75 residents of the area met on the street at the end of Villa Drive, near where the proposed construction is to take place.

LOCAL PHYSICIAN Dr. A. Itazga, who owns the land, plans to have constructed 100 condominiums including 40 one-bedroom units, 40 two-bedroom units, 20 townhouses, a community center and a 200-car parking lot.

Dr. Itazga has petitioned the city's plan commission to rezone the property from single-family residential (R-2) to planned residential (R-3). His request will be considered at the commission's meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 11, at City Hall. Final approval or denial of the rezoning will be up to the City Council, however.

Residents living within 300 feet of the proposed development received a letter informing them that the request would be considered at the September meeting, said the plan commission secretary. The letters were sent certified mail and were addressed to "resident."

CONCERN WAS voiced by some residents that the condominiums could create added traffic and noise problems for the area. Also, Villa Drive and Wabash Avenue would have to be opened for access to and from the property; both are dead-end streets, it was asserted.

Another concern was the added pressure the condominiums might put on sanitary sewers in the area. Several residents said raw sewage had recently backed up into their basements.

"I'm not against progress," said resident Karen Costello.

"GRANITE CITY is not a booming residential town," she said. "If they don't sell them, what happens to the condos?"

Costello, one of the organizers of the meeting, said she went door-to-door informing residents of the situation. She lives closest to where the development would take place.

Besides traffic and sewer problems, she said, she believes the condominiums could spark higher property taxes for residents of the area.

City pursues some annexations

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The city has withdrawn its petitions to place the issue of annexation on the November ballot, Mayor Von Dee Cruse said Thursday.

Cruse said the petitions were being withdrawn due to the need for more time to better inform the public. The request will be resubmitted to the court for the ballot in April 1987, he said.

THIS DELAYS the proposed annexation program announced by Cruse in June to expand the city's boundaries to the Chain of Rocks Canal on the west, Interstate 270 on the north and Pontoon Beach on the east. This area included the Wilshire Manor and Town and Country subdivisions located on the eastern edge of the city.

The plan would have added 5,000 acres and approximately 6,000 residents to the city.

The postponement does not affect the annexation petitions of the Steelcrest Manor and Gorbie subdivisions, Cruse said. An error appeared in Thursday's edition of the Press-Record saying these subdivisions were affected by the withdrawal.

BOTH THE Steelcrest and Gorbie petitions will be heard Monday, Sept. 15, by Madison County Associate Judge Edward Ferguson.

In explaining the postponement, Cruse said a telephone survey, taken by City Hall employees in mid-August of residents in the proposed annexation areas, revealed that seven out of 10 residents did not have enough information to make a decision on the annexation issue.

"Educating 70 percent of the public on any issue is a formidable task," Cruse said, "but one we felt we could handle."

HOWEVER, Cruse said, several events of the past few weeks changed his mind.

First Gov. James Thompson signed HB 1467, which took effect immediately, regarding annexations by coterminous townships.

"The law really clouded the issue," said Director of Economic Development Alan Ortals, who has worked closely with Cruse on the annexation program.

"I'VE TALKED to representatives from the governor's office, the Illinois Municipal League and the sponsor of the bill," he said, "and I've gotten different answers from each of them as to the effect on annexation territory."

At issue are the varying tax rates for Granite City and Nameoki Township, whether or not the land would also be annexed by Granite City Township, and the responsibilities of the three governments if the land was not annexed by Granite City Township.

"We were finding it impossible to accurately explain to people how this law would affect them because we couldn't get a straight answer ourselves," Ortals said.

Skateboarding popular activity among teens

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — In parking lots, on sidewalks and on the streets, skateboarding is becoming a popular activity among teenagers nationwide.

Dressed in flowered Bermuda shorts, skateboarders try to outdo one another with maneuvers off light poles, curbs or on ramps made out of old pieces of lumber.

SKATEBOARDING has its own language and its own magazines.

Sunday focus

Skating teams and professional skaters are also popular, showing that skateboarding is both a hobby and a sport.

In the past several years, skateboarding has enjoyed great popularity among many teenage boys.

"IT'S FUN, especially when you're going up in the air off a ramp or a curb," said Joseph Poole, who was skating in a parking lot on Delmar Avenue.

Poole, 16, said he bought his first skateboard after several of his friends from school got him interested in skating a year ago.

"I got one (skateboard) just to be like them and now I'm hooked on it," he said. "I've got to skate every day."

A SKATEBOARD park is needed, Poole said, so skaters can get off the parking lots and streets.

Skateboarding is a fairly safe activity, he said, although a fall can lead to minor cuts or bruises.

"I feel a kind of fun gliding along," said Grant Martin, who was skating with Poole. "You have a lot of freedom."

MARTIN, 13, also started skating last year.

"I just saw some people doing it," he said, "so I bought this real cheap board and started crackin' on it."

Martin said he is somewhat apprehensive getting back on a skateboard after he's injured in a fall.

"AFTER IT happens, I'm scared," he said. "I don't want to do it for awhile."

"It's pretty cool when the wind is with you and you don't have to push very much," said Jay Hanks, who was skating down Cleveland Boulevard.

Hanks, 14, said he has suffered several bruises from skateboarding falls. However, he said he has a friend who was almost seriously injured in a skating accident.

THE RISK of serious skating accidents exists, but they are not as common as a bruised knee or a scraped elbow.

Granite City chiropractor Dr. Charles King Jr. said he has seen several children who have suffered minor abrasions in skateboarding accidents.

Common are hand injuries caused by breaking a fall and abrasions from scraping against blacktop or pavement, King said.

MOST SERIOUS skaters wear helmets, wrist guards, gloves and knee and shoulder pads to avoid injuries, he said.

With the popularity of skateboarding on the rise, the sale of skating equipment has also increased.

"There are a lot of kids catching on to it," said Will Aschinger, manager of the Sunset Surf Shop in Sunset Hills, Mo.

WHEN HE started selling skateboards 3½ years ago, Aschinger said, he sold about 20 boards the first year. However, by the next year, he couldn't count the large number sold.

Safety equipment for skaters is also selling as well as the boards, he said.

The popular age involved in skateboarding is 12-16 years old, Aschinger said. However, he has seen skaters ranging from 7-20 years old.

ONE REASON skateboarding is popular is due to the design of the board, he said.

DEFYING GRAVITY on a skateboard Thursday is Todd Fulmer of Madison. The pastime, once a fad, has regained popularity with youngsters in the '80s.

"Now, the boards are really wide and are easier to ride and to stand on," he said. "Five years ago, the boards were very thin."

The construction of the skateboard has also improved, Aschinger said.

"THEY ARE very tough and offer a lot of stability and strength," he said.

Economy is another factor in the popularity of skateboarding, he said. Many boards range from $100 to $180, Aschinger said.

With the rise in popularity comes the rise in demand, he said.

"It's hard to get ahold of the product sometimes," he said.

Attorney urges rural selection

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The District 9 Board of Education is considering advice by the board's attorney that recommends choosing a candidate for a board vacancy from rural areas of the district instead of the city.

But a state board of elections official said the school board is under no legal obligation to select a rural candidate.

AT LEAST EIGHT district residents have expressed interest in the board position vacated by Jerry McKechan, a rural member of the board, two weeks ago. Five are from the city and three are from rural areas.

Board member Joanne Terrell said the board's attorney, William Schooley Jr., has recommended that a rural candidate replace McKechan.

"In his opinion, we should choose a rural person," Terrell said.

Schooley could not be reached for a comment.

Terrell said the board is considering three rural candidates, Joann Macios, Bob Maxwell and Sheila Moran, because of Schooley's recommendation.

DNRS group to sponsor autumn tour of City Hall

By Donna Kimbro

The Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society will sponsor an open house tour of the newly-decorated City Hall in Granite City on Sunday, Sept. 28, instead of its annual house tour.

Area residents are invited to view the renovated municipal building at 2000 Edison Ave. from 1 to 5 p.m., Margaret Hopkins, chairman of the event, said.

Members of the DNRS planned the tour this year in conjunction with the 90th anniversary of Granite City, as an activity of a civic nature. Founded by the Niedringhaus family, the city was incorporated in 1896.

The firemen held "Fill the Boot" day on Friday, Aug. 29, and Saturday, Aug. 30, to raise funds for MDA. Bernaix said.

"We're really happy with that," he said.

Street at Niedringhaus and Delmar avenues. There will be a food booth, bake sale, quilt event and music by local groups, the chairman said.

Any crafter interested in participating is to contact Jeanine Nann at 452-1992 during the day or Margaret Hopkins at 378-7715 during the evening hours. Cost per table is set at $12.50.

DNRS members will staff the City Hall and plan to be in costumes of the early 1900s era.

There will be no fee to visit the City Hall and an informational pamphlet will be distributed to those in attendance. The pamphlet will contain a history of the city building and information on some of the mayors who served the city. There also will be information regarding the sponsoring group.

More detailed plans and arrangements will be announced at a later date, Hopkins said.

A contract has been awarded for construction of a new Granite City post office at 24th Street and Madison Avenue, said U.S. Rep. Mel Price, D-East St. Louis. The one-story building will be leased to the post office by the builders for 20 years with one 10-year option and two five-year renewable options at an annual lease cost of $31,995.

Firemen raise funds for MDA telethon

GRANITE CITY — Local firefighters collected $2,851 to benefit the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon, said Firefighters' Local 253 President Charlie Bernaix. The firemen held "Fill the Boot" day on Friday, Aug. 29, and Saturday, Aug. 30, to raise funds for MDA. Bernaix said. "We're really happy with that," he said. Military in burger war

WASHINGTON You might call this "Whopper of the Week." Burger King and the Army and Air Force PXs are expanding the fast-food chain's franchised outlets at military bases in this country and overseas, despite outcries from rival restaurateurs who do business outside the camp gates.

Congress, which gave permission for the on-post Burger King in the first place (as well as for McDonald's outlets on Navy bases), has effectively shrugged off the complaints. In July 1985, Congress declared a one-year moratorium on expansion of the military fast-food outlets and ordered the Pentagon to submit a report on the situation.

Predictably, the Pentagon report justified the franchise operation, saying, "These nationally known restaurants help develop a sense of pride and satisfaction in the military community," especially overseas, where they provide "a bit of America" for our service men and women.

Surprisingly, though, the report also stated, "There is no evidence of any substantial or direct impact on sales in the local civilian community."

The Defense Department investigators obviously didn't interview civilian restaurants in Lawton, Okla., the nearest town to Fort Sill. But our reporter Jim Lynch did.

"They're taking our money and competing with us," complained Allen Trueblood, who owns the two off-base Burger Kings in Lawton. His restaurant closest to Fort Sill has lost about $15,000 a month since the Burger King on the base opened.

Fort Sill is an open installation, which means civilians can drive or walk in and buy their Whoppers for 13 cents less, because the base outlet pays no sales taxes. The on-base franchise places also pay no property or income taxes.

Percy Pulliam set up a pit barbecue restaurant near Fort Sill and his lunchtime business has dropped by one-third since the base Burger King opened.

It's not just the sales-tax differential that's killing the local fast-food operators. Shortly before the base Burger King announced the command general announced that a new regulation forbidding the wearing of fatigue uniforms off the post would be strictly enforced. Since the troops are almost always in fatigues, this had the effect of giving the new Burger King a monopoly on fast-food business most of the time.

The PX shares its Burger King profits with the base commander who put them in the "moral, welfare and recreation fund." Fort Sill has netted about $26,000 since May out of the base Burger King's $150,000-a-month gross. Worldwide, the Burger King military operation grossed $45 million from February through July, with $7.4 million in profits for the PXs.

In the past two years, the military has built 54 Burger Kings on Army and Air Force bases and 45 McDonald's on Navy bases. Given Congress' compliant attitude in the matter, the number of military fast-food outlets may triple by 1990.

Parents must monitor pupils' health, safety

Summer's wane means it's back to school time for thousands of Illinois children. And while their parents' thoughts may be on gathering school supplies and meeting their children's wardrobe needs, some consideration also should be given to back-to-school health and safety.

For example, the end of summer vacations means more traffic on local roadways. With school buses out in force, the potential for serious and even fatal accidents is great.

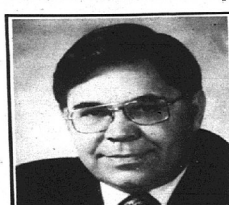

Children darting out from behind stopped school buses may not be seen until it's too late. So if you're driving your car during school hours, be especially alert when you are near school buses.

Remember, under Illinois law, you must stop when approaching from either direction a school bus stopped to pick up or drop off students. Wait until the driver has used the bus' safety signals before proceeding.

Some safety reminders also are in order for parents who drive their children to school. The number one safety rule is to always use seat belts.

Smaller children who are too big for toddler car seats can use booster seats until they reach a weight of 60 pounds.

For older children who can wear a lap/shoulder belt, be sure to check the positioning of the shoulder portion of the belt. It should fit across the child's shoulders, not the face or neck. If the child is too small for a proper fit, place the shoulder strap behind his or her body.

A regular physical examination by a doctor is another matter that should be on the back-to-school health and safety checklist.

State law mandates school physicals prior to entering kindergarten and the fifth and ninth grades. Besides being required by law, school physicals are useful in identifying health problems in children.

One recent Illinois study revealed that significant problems including hernias and scoliosis were discovered in 11 percent of children examined.

An examination by a physician prior to kindergarten also helps ensure that a child has received proper immunization against the major childhood diseases. By school age, your child should have received vaccinations for polio, measles, mumps and rubella.

Also necessary is the DPT vaccine which protects against diphtheria, tetanus and pertussis (commonly referred to as whooping cough).

While it is under attack by some groups concerned with possible side effects, most physicians agree that the DPT vaccine is important. Serious side effects occur only in a very small number of children given the vaccine. More serious is the very real threat of contracting pertussis, cases of which are being reported in increasing numbers.

Discuss the benefits and risks of the pertussis vaccine fully with your doctor before making a decision. Throughout the school year, many parents of young children will confront the issue of keeping a child home from school when he or she complains of not feeling well.

Serious illness should be evaluated by a physician. But there are some simple guidelines for parents to determine whether a child is sick enough to stay home.

Fever, for example, is one important warning symptom. No child with a fever over 100 degrees should be sent to school. And he or she should be kept home until free of fever for at least 24 hours. Consult your physician if the fever persists.

A doctor also should be consulted if the child has a persistent stomach ache or one that is severe enough to limit the child's activity. A vomiting child should be kept home until he or she can keep food down. Symptoms of diarrhea also usually warrant home rest.

Children who experience any sort of rash also should be kept home until a physician says it's safe to return. A rash may be the first sign of one of many childhood illnesses such as measles or chicken pox.

The most common health problem confronting parents will be the common cold. The child with a heavy cold and a hacking cough belongs home in bed, even if no fever is present.

Complaints of a sore throat alone usually aren't enough to keep a child home. However, if white spots can be seen in the back of the throat or if fever is present, keep him or her home and call the doctor.

Re-learning to walk

Parents announce with pride the day baby has learned to walk.

Baby's first steps are a significant accomplishment. An infinite number of complex nerves and muscles must function in coordination for baby to take his first steps. Then, starting in the teen years, Americans tend to seek ways and means of "not walking."

And where motorized vehicles are a convenience, they contribute more to lethargy and atrophy and obesity than to physical fitness.

In Marlboro, Mass., the Rockport Walking Institute has been established for the purpose of re-teaching Americans to walk.

Walking is the number one participant sport in the United States. Of the 70 million Americans who do some form of aerobic exercise, most (53 percent) are engaged in regular walking.

But most still don't know how. Walking for physical fitness requires walking at a sufficiently brisk pace to maintain your heart rate in a target training zone. The goal of fitness walking is strengthening your heart.

So... anyone in reasonably good health should walk faster than three miles an hour. Four miles an hour is a brisk pace. Five and a half miles an hour is for conditioned athletes.

Fitness walking burns virtually the same number of calories as running a comparable distance — yet without the potential for orthopedic injuries.

Walking improves cardiovascular efficiency, may lower blood pressure, relieves stress, reduces body fat, strengthens leg and abdominal muscles and may improve the quality of sleep.

Paul Harvey News

How much is enough? Forty-five minutes a day at four miles an hour is great!

If you cannot afford that much time, take 30 minutes three times a week and increase cardiovascular fitness by 8 to 15 percent.

What I have just related is gleaned from the present best knowledge of the scientists and clinicians who have converged to help Rockport Walking Institute understand the physiology of walking.

Dr. James M. Rippe, University of Massachusetts, directs that institution's Exercise and Physiology Laboratory. He is convinced that the medical profession must pay more attention to promoting exercise.

"We feel that continuation of research will help to establish walking as an excellent aerobic workout and an extremely beneficial exercise to strengthen the heart."

Edward Payson Weston, "father of pedestrianism," once described walking as "like a perfect massage for easing and relieving muscles."

But unlike a massage, it will also strengthen the muscles — including the heart muscle.

To the editor: An advantage of being in the Senate with its six-year term, over and over in the time with its two-year term, is that for the first time in well over a decade my wife and I took a two-week vacation in an election year.

I was able to get in some work during the two weeks and some spots that I had been planning for some time, but primarily we relaxed.

I came away again with the overwhelming feeling of how grateful we should be for living in a land with such a variety of geographical splendor. We should make sure we preserve that splendor for our children and generations to come.

One of the stops we made was at the Northern Cascades National Park in the state of Washington. A two-hour trip on a boat up Lake Chelan, through magnificent mountains to Holden Village, is awe-inspiring — an overused phrase but an accurate one in this case.

But it is not just that one great park. The mountains, the ocean, the streams, the trees, the wildlife, wherever they are — all tremendous gifts God has given us, and we have the obligation to preserve them, not the right to demolish them.

While the scenery in Illinois is not as dramatic as in a few spots in this nation, there are magnificent places most Illinois citizens have never seen: Galena and do Daviess County in northwestern Illinois; the drive along the Mississippi in several spots but particularly in the Alton-Grafton area and from Hamilton to Nauvoo; the Garden of the Gods in deep Southern Illinois. And I am missing 100 scenic spots for each one I mention.

But we cannot take for granted that the great places of natural beauty will be preserved.

Every time we heedlessly toss out a beer can or a soft drink can, every time we toss out a cigarette which has not been completely put out, all the thoughtless acts we perform that put in jeopardy our heritage are a disservice to ourselves; and to the future.

It is also true of the less obvious. We are gradually eroding the topsoil of the nation's farms, a threat to the future economy of the nation and to the world's ability to live.

The biggest immediate threat to agriculture is the plight of the farmer struggling to survive economically. The biggest long-term threat is the shortage of topsoil.

Beautiful national parks, clean air, clean streams, substantial and deep topsoil are not an inevitable part of our future.

At the Northern Cascades National Park I heard someone say — commenting about the deer and other wildlife of the part — "we are their guests. We should act like good guests should."

That is an attitude more of us have to acquire.

If we give our children cleaner air, cleaner streams, richer topsoil and better national parks, we will have shown that we appreciate our heritage.

Unfortunately, so far the record is a mixed one. In some areas we have made progress. In too many areas much remains to be done.

Toy and not always a joy and Believe it or not, Christmas is just 109 days away. And for grand parents and aunts and uncles who will be shopping for the younger set, there can be problems.

If you ask a youngster what he or she wants for Christmas, and you are told a specific toy by name, begin looking for it now because all is different in Toyland.

Maybe the shopper has kept up with the changes in toys and other gifts, but for those who have not you will be amazed how different the manufactured product is today.

Remember the Lincoln logs and Erector sets? Well, they have almost been replaced with Leggos, which have added another dimension with the "Duplo," a larger type of Leggo for the small child.

With the Leggos components, a space set can be created, or medieval castles, or space people or a computer that can build rockets.

Tinker toys were once popular, as were Tonka cars for boys and the Tonka matchbox cars with cases.

Today, little boys seem to like characters from the Masters of the Universe collection and Voltron, a sort of Outer Space character. The GI Joe series has made a comeback from the World War II era and is becoming a popular pastime play toy.

One of the favorite of both boys and girls some years ago was a plastic farm set that included fencing, farm animals, barns, houses and family characters. There also were a Western town set and Apache villages in the same plastic forms, with cowboys on horses and painted Indian models.

These sets are extinct, I think. I cannot find them and I have looked for two years.

The Betsy Wetsy doll is no more, or at least I could not find one. However, Barbie has remained a top seller.

Added to the Barbie family now is a rock musical group costumed in "punk" clothing and the same furniture and cars made to accompany Barbies' group.

A new addition for girls is My Little Pony that includes a comb to care for the pony's mane and household furniture to create a home for the pony in addition to the conventional barnyard setting.

Reading and coloring books are still on the shelves and I did notice the age-old games of dominos and checkers.

There is also a large and colorful assortment of children's furniture that still interests youngsters.

I have seen table and chair sets, stoves, kitchen cabinets, sinks, sidewalk cars and the ever-popular gift, bicycles — in a variety of colors and manufactured in steel or plastic for any age child.

Of course, to help the shopper there are the inevitable commercials on television, beginning very soon to entice the children to ask for the unusual toy that works so well during the television sale pitch.

Good luck, shoppers. May you find everything by Dec. 24. And don't forget the batteries.

Correction

The annexation story on page one of Thursday's Press-Record incorrectly stated the annexation petitions for Steelecrest Manor and Gorbie Subdivision would be withdrawn. They will not be withdrawn. Petitions for annexation of these areas will be heard by Associate Judge Edward Ferguson on Sept. 15. We regret the error.

Clarification

An editorial in Thursday's Press-Record in favor of occupancy permits in Granite City can be construed to mean the city does not have a building ordinance. It does. The thrust of the editorial, however, was to favor occupancy permits to require inspections of property at the point of sale or rental, thereby reducing substandard housing. Concerning the overall amendment to require the permits that is being reviewed by the City Council, certain parts of it seem unworkable, but we cannot disagree with the overall intent.

Is a newspaper's apology really enough?

In an apology from the newspaper enough when a mistake's been made?

More reasonable persons would probably think it is, but there's more to it.

A case in point has to do with the Mitchell Athletics going on this weekend.

The Mitchell Athletic Association has, for years, been running a fine sports program for area's youth. In return, they don't get nearly the degree of recognition they deserve. So the group does a relatively thankless job and doesn't ask for much.

Media Mandarin

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive Editor

They did, however, ask the newspaper for some advance publicity on the festivities going on today, and being yesterday and Friday. The publicity would, of course, have helped to get a good crowd out for an important event that generates funds for a worthwhile program.

The newspaper let the group down. It wasn't intentional, and circumstances combined to keep a promotional story on the event out of the paper, but the bottom line is that we still let them down.

A last-minute crush forced the story off the designated page. On deadline, the choices are hard, and fast — get in the stories that all costly money sure the stories that jump from the front page are entered, and so on.

Of course, when one story is left out, the person who was interested in that story will find fault with all other stories that made it in the paper. We are then left with the hopeless task of trying to defend news judgment, and apologizing.

In any case, the Mitchell group deserves better. So have the other groups that have, on occasion, experienced similar problems.

We apologize, knowing it isn't enough, and resolving always to do a better job.

But as for our apology being enough, it isn't — not to us, and especially not if it was your story.

Parent workshop on discipline Tuesday

The Granite City school district will present a workshop for parents from 7 to 9:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 9, at the high school auditorium. Parents of students of all ages are invited to attend.

The workshop will feature assertive discipline training for parents, which has been called the "missing link" which ties together a home-school plan of discipline.

Bert Simmons, a speaker from Canter and Associates of Santa Monica, Calif., will present a program which includes the following topics:

- Helping parents to recognize their response styles (assertive, non-assertive behavior).
- Assisting parents in overcoming their non-assertive behavior.
- Improving communication between parent and child.
- Choosing appropriate negative consequences for the child's age.
- Utilizing positive reinforcement effectively for appropriate behavior.
- Creating a bridge between home and school for acceptable behavior.

- Coping with everyday behavior problems.
- Dealing with severe behavior.

Caboose auction marks end of era

"This is the end of an era, folks — there aren't gonna be anymore, so this could be your last chance to get one," auctioneer Richard Resler coaxed, pointing to the lines of railroad cabooses in the dusty freight yard.

Buyers had come to Madison from as far away as Texas and Tennessee hoping to take home relic of vanishing America.

The cabooses, costing $70,000 each when they were built in 1971, were of both monitor and bay window styles. A monitor caboose has a cupola on the top where the conductor can oversee train operations, while bay window cars have sliding glass windows in a bay that extends from the side of the car.

All 40 cars offered for sale were equipped with built-in cots, tables, chairs, a stove, a refrigerator compartment, cabinets, a sink and private toilet facilities.

Tom Herfort, a Texan from the town of Sugar Land, came to the sale hoping to buy two or three cars for use as guest houses on acreage he has near San Antonio, but he went home empty-handed. Herfort said the cost of transportation caused him to change his mind.

A moving man who attended the auction estimated the cost from Madison to West Alton would be about $1,500, including removing the caboose wheels, using a 60-ton crane to hoist it onto a flat car, and finding a route free of low overhead wires and underpasses that would permit the height of the load.

Don York of McLeansboro bought a Baltimore & Ohio bay window caboose for $1,600. He plans to use it for a bath house and entertainment center by his swimming pool.

An elderly couple from Murfreesboro, Tenn., paid $1,800 for an Illinois Central monitor caboose which will become part of a historic railroad project they are developing in Lawrence County, Tenn.

In the early days of the nation's railroads, any freight car available was used for the conductor and crew. The "caboose" — a nautical term meaning "a house where cooking is done" — was the brain-child of a conductor who was given a boxcar with a hold in the roof for his journey.

He piled up a stack of boxes, climbed up and stuck his head out the top of the car, where he could watch the train and signal the engineer.

He was able to convince the railroad company to build a car with an office and observation post on top where he could direct the train and do his paperwork. Other lines followed suit.

The caboose served not only as a conductor's office, but as living quarters, kitchen, dining room, workshop, den, toilet and balcony for the crew who traveled the entire route and knew the car as a home away from home.

They cooked their meals on the caboose stove using dried and canned foods, as well as fresh produce bought along the line and an occasional chicken "requisitioned" from a nearby farm.

The engineer didn't eat with the crew, mainly because it would be necessary to stop the train, but also because (according to old railroad tales) there was no love lost between the engineer up front and the caboose crew.

An engineer could, if he chose, give the men at the end of the train a ride equalling those of an amusement park, sending furniture and occupants flying and causing bruises as well as bruised feelings.

It was a caboose that sent famed engineer Casey Jones to his "promised land." Jones, known as a "highballer" because of his speed, was trying to make time on a late run.

Telling the fireman that the racing steam engine "had her dancin' shoes on tonight," he saw down the tracks another train on a siding with the caboose still on the main line. The fireman jumped off and rolled clear, but Casey stayed at the throttle of the Illinois Central Cannonball to become a legend.

In railroading's heyday, around 1915, there were 254,073 miles of track in the U.S. In 1970, Amtrak was down to 28,000 miles, although many roads still carry freight. The crews now ride the engines and radio communications have made the use of railroad cabooses obsolete.

In the not too distant future, there will be no friendly wave from the brakeman and no red marker lamp fading away into the night in the little red caboose behind the train.

Madison High praised, more improvements

By Donna Kimbro
Staff writer

MADISON — A final report of the North Central Association visiting team commended Madison High School, the teachers, students and Board of Education for its programs and goals. Dolores Folkerts, curriculum director, told the board Thursday night.

Henry J. Studnicki, chairman of the board, said, "Without question, Madison High School is a fine school guided by sound educational statements of philosophy and objectives."

The team's 22 professional people were selected for their special competence and ability to make valid observations of designated areas of the high school program. They assessed the present status of the school and explored ways to challenge the school to make further improvements.

In their study, they noted such strengths as the staff and its preparation, the interaction of the staff and the administration, the upkeep and condition of the school building, a good learning environment, the obvious pride of the students, the feeling of ownership conveyed by all, the extra attention given to remedial students, and the curricular response to needs of students and the community.

The final analysis gave categories to be considered for further development. The high school faculty has organized itself into divisions to deal with specific recommendations, including immediate projects, changes to be made in the near future, and formation of long-range plans.

In conjunction with the report, Folkerts obtained board permission for early release of students on several days so teachers can meet for in-service sessions to plan future programs and goals.

High school students will be dismissed at 1:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 9; kindergarten through third grades pupils will leave school at 2 p.m. on Sept. 23; and those in the fourth and fifth grades will be dismissed at 2 p.m. on Sept. 25.

One of the initial steps in conforming to the recommendations is to participate in the Belleville Vocational Information Systems. Folkerts told board members. They approved participation.

She said, "It will cost $2.50 per student for those who use the program, which involves BVIS computers for information focused on careers and courses needed to prepare for a particular vocation."

"Students may explore military careers or utilize the job forecast. Seniors can find details of financial aid, which colleges offer the courses they select, and a list of vocational and technical schools. All information requested by the students is compiled and sent back to the high school."

"This program can be used by teachers, the entire class, counselors, social workers, physical education staff and others. It offers unlimited information to all grade levels," Folkerts said.

"The plan is to know the student and his needs and work from that point. Another phase of the use of a computerized system of grading tests, which is being instituted. Grades will then be put on cards for a printout to be given to the teachers, so the teacher will know what the pupil knows and what he does not know and then can work in that area to benefit the student."

"Student motivation is one of the goals we have set for this year," the director said.

Fall Fun Day held Sept. 14 in Madison

A Fall Fun Day is being planned by members of the Amvets Post 204 Auxiliary to take place on Sunday, Sept. 14, at the post home, 1711 Kennedy Drive, Madison.

There will be no admission charge at the festivities, which are scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. and continue until 7 p.m. All booths will be set up outdoors on the parking lot of the post home.

Features of the fund-raising project will include live music, magicians, clowns, games for children and adults, a white elephant booth, a cake booth, and presentation of hand-made afghans and assorted donated gifts. Food and refreshments will be available. Proceeds will be used for servicemen and women. The public is invited, Pat Hartman, president, said.

Marian Hartung is serving with Volunteer Corps

Marian R. Hartung of Granite City will spend the next year working hard, living simply and helping others. She is a new member of a unique group called the Jesuit Volunteer Corps — South.

The Jesuit Volunteer Corps began in 1956 as an organization of committed people working to help the poor and oppressed.

It has since grown to encompass nearly 300 volunteers across the country, men and women who spend a year of their lives working in innovative urban and rural social programs as teachers, nurses, counselors, legal assistants and therapists and in many other capacities.

Hartung will be working at DePaul Family Center in San Antonio, Texas. She is a graduate of Southern Illinois University, where she received a degree in nursing and psychology in 1979.

Five JVC offices across the country place young people in a variety of activities designed to answer urgent community needs.

In a program that has been called "a spiritual Peace Corps," the volunteer exchanges a year of his or her life and in return receives extensive experience as well as personal and spiritual growth.

YOUR STARS

VIRGO — Aug. 23-Sept. 7 Limit yourself to those challenges that already exist. Don't complicate your life now with anything new. Sept. 8-Sept. 22 Remember that you are made of the same clay as your fellow men and women. Don't attempt the impossible.

LIBRA — Sept. 23-Oct. 7 If you can free yourself of any artificiality, you will be able to cope with the week's difficulties. Oct. 8-Oct. 22 Naturalness is the key to success this week. Without it, you will be too self-concerned to cope.

SCORPIO — Oct. 23-Nov. 7 Unpleasant events may follow each other in quick succession. Be prepared to solve problems quickly.

NOV. 8-NOV. 21 Your seriousness proves to be a special advantage throughout this week of surprises and difficulty.

SAGITTARIUS — Nov. 22-Dec. 7 You may surprise all who know you by distinguishing yourself this week — despite hardship. Dec. 8-Dec. 21 Deal with already established relationships and projects — or be prepared to fail.

CAPRICORN — Dec. 22-Jan. 6 Family affairs are more manageable than you'd hoped. This makes up for multiple disappointments. Jan. 7-Jan. 19 Though property values appear improved on paper, this is not the time to attempt to sell. Hang on to assets.

AQUARIUS — Jan. 20-Feb. 3 Conclude all projects at hand before undertaking anything new. Last week's trivia is this week's vital info. Feb. 4-Feb. 18 A successful romantic adventure serves to lessen the pain of a failed business relationship.

PISCES — Feb. 19-March 5 Though close relatives offer aid, you would be better off on your own. Say no — but without offense. March 6-March 20 Matters pertaining to health must not be shunted aside. What you attend to now will not worsen later.

ARIES — March 20-April 4 A few unforgettable moments early in the week make later disappointments entirely bearable. April 5-April 19 Secret deals and private treaties are with few exceptions doomed to failure this week. Can you afford the odds?

TAURUS — April 20-May 5 Confusion is highly probable this week, if you insist on taking on new projects. Keep to what you know. May 6-May 20 Travel is essential this week if you are to rescue even a small percentage of effort from being in vain.

GEMINI — May 21-June 6 Be careful how you use strong, sarcastic or tactless words. Be kind and let who will be clever. June 7-June 20 Partnership affairs prove more complicated — and more confusing — than expected Make no decisions now.

CANCER — June 21-July 7 Neighbors may look askance at the week's goings-on. Don't be daunted, however; move ahead where you can. July 8-July 28 A great deal of personal effort on your part is required this week to secure joint progress.

LEO — July 29-Aug. 7 The application of your signature can make or break your chances for long-term success. Refuse to be rushed! Aug. 8-Aug. 22 financial affairs take a roller-coaster ride this week. Don't allow your emotions to override sense.

FAA funds $900,000 Scott study

The Federal Aviation Administration has approved a $900,000 grant for a master plan and environmental assessment of a commercial air cargo hub at Scott Air Force Base near Belleville, Gov. James Thompson said Aug. 29.

The purpose of the master plan is to determine whether a market exists for air cargo service out of Scott and to design the layout of a proposed facility.

The study also provides for an environmental assessment of the impact on the surrounding area.

The state is putting up $100,000 for the studies in addition to the $900,000 grant from the FAA.

The study sparked controversy on Aug. 27 when the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council was asked to endorse it. Although the Council approved it, St. Louis County Executive Gene McNary revived the "airport wars" of the 1970s during the discussion.

McNary suggested the Scott study was a revival of Illinois' plan to "steal" the passenger airport for the metro region, citing the effort to build an airport in the Columbia-Waterloo area in the 1970s.

Illinois Division of Aeronautics Director Robert Coverdale said the state could not flatly rule out the possibility of Scott being used for passenger service sometime in the future, but he noted a preliminary feasibility study had showed "no interest by the airlines" at this time.

The $1 million study will be limited to an analysis and plan for using Scott for commercial cargo operations, he said.

McNary suggested St. Louis Regional Airport in East Alton would be more suited for cargo operations.

Coverdale said the study will be limited to Scott and will not evaluate other Metro East airports. He said he had no information suggesting St. Louis Regional as an alternate site for cargo facility.

Two consulting firms out of Washington and Illinois firms based in Springfield, Champaign and Athens have been selected to conduct the Scott study, which will begin this month and be completed by July 1, 1988.

law before the Illinois Supreme Court is being considered.

There is a very good chance that this could be unconstitutional," he said. "It singles out 20 municipalities. That's so few in number."

A second cause of confusion, according to Granite City officials, was the recent distribution of "misleading" information by the Nameoki Township Citizens Committee, headed by Trustee Ken Davis.

"THIS SO-CALLED fact sheet was not put out to try to educate or inform anyone but rather to influence votes by misrepresenting the facts," Orbals alleged.

The flyer contains numerous inaccuracies, he said.

"The total tax rate is made up of seven different rates including county tax, township tax, city tax, school tax, etc.," Orbals said. "What you pay is the total bill, not a piece of it."

Cruse said the comparison they extracted a certain few of the rates and then showed a 100 percent difference between remaining in Nameoki or annexing to Granite City," he said.

"This is pure nonsense," Orbals said. "The only item on the flyer which is not distorted or incorrect is the sales tax."

"We've done everything we could not to confuse anyone," Davis said Friday. "If the truth hurts, then we're going to have to live with it."

DAVIS SAID the fact sheet, recently distributed by the city, tried to show the actual property tax for residents in the proposed annexation areas. Some of the figures differed with information distributed by Granite City.

"Granite City tried to mislead the people on what their taxes are going to be if they go into Granite City," he said. "Granite City has a lot of problems and we don't want them."

Cruse said the Nameoki fact sheet did reflect a 20 percent decrease in Nameoki's tax base due to the recent annexation of Granite City Steel's coke plant into the city.

"THE COMBINATION of the new annexation law and Nameoki's distortion sheet have convinced us that more time is needed to get all the facts out in the open," he said.

"This is an important decision that we are asking the people to make, not just for themselves but for the future of the entire area," Cruse said, "and it is not one which should be made quickly."

By next April, Cruse said, residents in the proposed annexation areas will have enough information to come to a decision.

"THE PEOPLE will have been able to sort out the fact from the fiction," he said.

The postponement has not dampened the spirit of Cruse or the city's annexation.

"We're not let down, no way whatsoever," Cruse said.

CRUSE ALSO said his friendships with local officials have not suffered due to the recent controversy.

"There's nothing personal about this," Cruse said. "I don't know one of them out there that's not my friend," he said.

"They're doing what they think is best for their people and I'm doing the best for our people," Cruse said.

A MEETING is being planned between Cruse and Nameoki Township Supervisor William Adams Jr. to discuss the possibility of merging the area into one entity to help future economic development, Cruse said.

Also concerning annexation, Cruse said a partnership is being finalized for the annexation of 180 acres of property owned by the Norfolk & Western Railway, behind the A.O. Smith Corp. plant. This would allow Eticam Inc. of Warwick, R.I., to annex its property, about two miles south of Heidman Steel Products Inc. on Illinois 3, into the city.

Eticam is planning construction of a $9.5 million plant on 6.6 acres of land. The plant could bring over 50 jobs to this area.

quired under Illinois law to maintain at least two rural members of the district on the seven-member board.

With McKeehan's resignation, the board still has two rural members, Dave Partney and Kelly Hogan.

The vacancy section of the state school code reads: "The successor shall have the same residential qualifications as his predecessor."

Assistant Associate Director for the State Board of Elections Bea Swartz said the elections board interprets the phrase to mean that an appointed member must be from the same area as the previous member.

"THEY DON'T HAVE to have a rural person. But if they (the Board of Education) chose to do so it would not be illegal," Swartz said. (There is no upper limit on the number of board members who can be rural residents.)

Swartz said the only requirement would be for the board to maintain at least two rural district citizens.

"If they do have two, there is no obligation," Swartz said.

Terrell said she would prefer to keep the selection open to city candidates if the board is not obligated to select a rural person.

"I WOULD PREFER having more options. I would like some time to check them out. That person is going to be there for a year and there are a lot of decisions that are going to be made," she said.

The board is scheduled to meet this Tuesday at 6 p.m. at the Board of Education office to discuss the appointment. The date was changed from Monday because some members had conflicting schedules. If a quorum is reached, the board could select a new member on Tuesday.

Terrell said she would urge the board to delay the appointment to clarify whether it is obligated to pick a rural candidate. But she said some members may have already decided to vote on the issue this week.

"I think some have made their minds up," she said.

BOARD MEMBER Kelly Hogan, a rural member, said he has not decided whether it would be better to select a rural candidate.

"He (School) has advised us as to what he feels would be served by Everybody's being considered, at least in my mind," Hogan said.

But Hogan said McKeehan's election from a rural area needs to be considered by the board.

"I think there is some consideration of what the people wanted. They elected another rural candidate and that should be considered," he said.

TERRELL WOULD LIKE to see "Joe Citizen" appointed to the board, she said.

"I would like to see someone who is independent, not politically connected, just Joe Citizen—a parent, out there," she said.

One of the rural residents, Sheila Moran, lost a bid for a board seat last November. She came in eighth in the 16-candidate race.

Another possible appointee, Bob Maxwell, was elected to the board in April 1986. He was defeated as an incumbent in November 1985. A former teacher and administrator, he is an executive of Granite City Steel.

Another rural prospect, Joann Macios, has never served on the board, though her husband Carl, assessor of Nameoki Township, served for about 10 years until leaving the board in 1974.

J. Hogan's 5 thefts key Warrior victory

By Gregg Ochoa

Executive Sports Editor
GRANITE CITY — Jamie Hogan must like to play defense against the Cahokia Comanches. Hogan intercepted five passes — returning one for a fourth-quarter touchdown — as Granite City pounded Cahokia 27-6 at Memorial Stadium Friday night. It was the season opener for both schools.

"They had me playing on the split end side," said Hogan. "And it seemed all their pass plays went to the split side."

"I just happened to be there." The five interceptions set a new school record in that category, breaking the old mark of four set last Sept. 20 by Dave Gushleff against Collinsville.

"I didn't realize he had that many, to tell you the truth," said Warrior coach Ron Yates, who won his first season opener in three tries. "I was shocked when they announced it."

Hogan scored three of the Warriors' four touchdowns and had another score wiped out because of a clipping penalty.

Granite City dominated the Comanches in the second half, outscoring Cahokia 21-0 in the final 24 minutes.

"I think we showed a little bit of character in that second half," Yates said. "Like I told the kids after the game, I'm relieved more than anything. It's kind of a laid-back happiness. We didn't win it the way I would have liked to."

Still, a victory is a victory. Granite City rolled up 214 yards total offense (62 yards rushing and 152 passing). Cahokia was held to 88 yards rushing and minus 17 yards passing.

The Comanches' worst enemies were themselves and the yellow penalty flag. Cahokia was whistled for nine penalties totalling 105 yards.

"That killed us," said Cahokia coach Robert Eden, who was making his debut as Cahokia coach. "Everytime we got something started, we would take it away. We gave this game away. I didn't think Granite earned it."

Eden, who coached last year at Toulon Lafayette High School, played on the 1969 Cahokia team that was undefeated and ranked No. 10 in the state.

"We have a lot of work to do," he said. "We made too many mental mistakes."

The Warriors started the game on fire, marching 62 yards in 17 plays to take a 6-0 lead. Junior Terry Stanley scored from four yards out to cap a drive that took almost seven minutes.

Granite City stopped Cahokia on the next series, forcing a punt. However, two plays later, Stanley coughed up the ball and Gregory Reed fell on it at the 47-yard line.

Three plays later, Guy Williams hooked up with Jeff Laubenthal for a 43-yard scoring strike with just 24 seconds remaining in the first quarter. The PAT failed and the score was 6-6.

Granite City controlled the ball for most of the second quarter but could not come away with any points.

Late in the period, Tim Davis recovered a fumble at the 23-yard line. However, the Cahokia defense stiffened. Tim Hogan attempted a 33-yard field goal with 1:48 left, but it fell short. The score remained 6-6 at the intermission.

"Their defensive line gave us problems," Yates admitted.

"They were beating us up and doing a lot of stunts. We were a little confused at times."

The third quarter was scoreless as Granite City let a golden opportunity slip by.

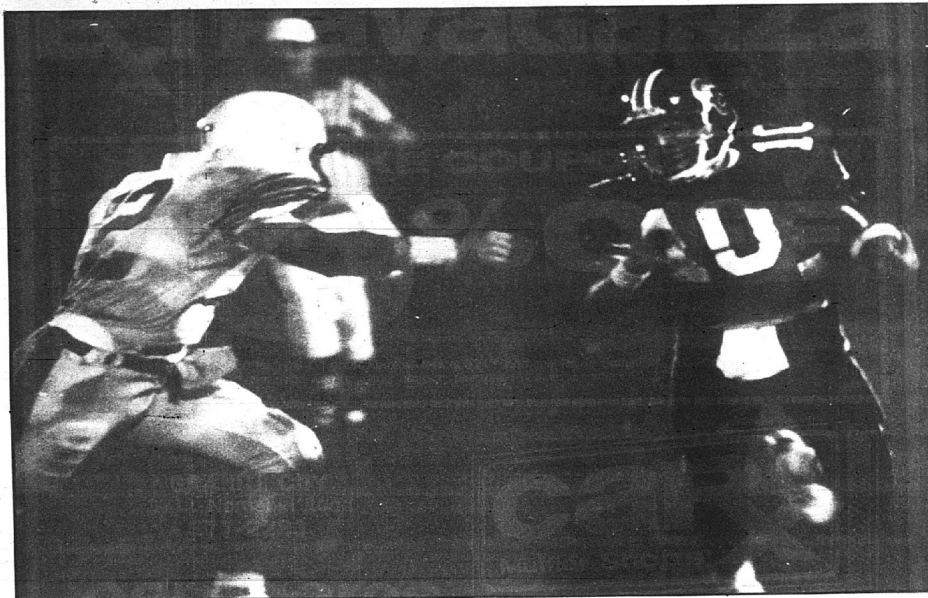

On fourth down from the Cahokia 36, the Comanches' Rodney Lawary had trouble with the snap as he prepared to punt. The ball rolled all the way to the one-yard line and John Kabbendian fell on it.

But, Granite City couldn't move the ball. On the first play, the Warriors were whistled for illegal motion. A Tim Hogan pass to Jamie moved the ball back to the one-yard line. Tim Hogan was stopped on fourth-and-goal.

"That could have been costly for us," Yates said.

Six plays later, Granite City got another chance on Jamie Hogan's third interception. On the very next play Tim Hogan found Jamie in the back of the end zone for a 25-yard scoring play. The PAT was good and Granite City led 13-6.

On the night, Tim Hogan completed 10 of 17 passes for 152 yards.

Just seconds later, Jamie Hogan picked off another Williams pass and appeared to be headed for a touchdown. The play was called back on a clipping penalty.

Stanley, who carried the ball 14 times for 24 yards, moved the ball to the one-yard line with three rushes. After a penalty, Jamie Hogan then caught his second TD pass of the night to give Granite a 20-6 lead. Hogan caught 7 passes for 132 yards.

Thirty-six seconds later, Granite City finished the scoring as Hogan got his fifth interception and returned it 31 yards for a touchdown. Jim Parker's PAT made the score 27-6.

In two games against Cahokia, Jamie Hogan has eight interceptions.

Despite the outcome, Yates still sees some need for improvement when his team meets Normandy of St. Louis next week at home.

"Cahokia showed that we have some weaknesses," Yates said. "I thought our offensive line was a lot stronger than it showed."

The Warriors managed only 62 yards rushing.

"Right now we miss our senior backfield from last year, but we knew the situation with our juniors, and hopefully things will work out," Yates said.

Eric Ryterski was the only other

Warrior to catch any passes. He caught three for 27 yards. Rob Eden, the coach's son who gained over 1,100 yards last year, rushed for 64 yards on 17 carries for Cahokia. Lawary had 24 yards on four carries, and Wendell Covington rushed for 18 yards in three carries.

The Warriors will host Normandy (0-0) next Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Cahokia will host Mehlville of St. Louis.

Soccer Trojans play well, but lose to Waterloo, 2-1

MADISON — A few more efforts like this one, and the Madison High School soccer team will be ready to break into the win column.

The Trojans outplayed the Waterloo Bulldogs by a wide margin here Thursday in the season opener, but the Bulldogs got a break early in the fourth quarter to pick up their second goal. They then held off the hard-charging Trojans in the final moments for a 2-1 win.

How much of a territorial advantage did the Trojans have in the game? Well, they outshot Waterloo 29-10 and had seven corner kicks compared to one for the Bulldogs. Still, a late goal by Mondo Martinez was all Madison could manage, despite many good chances in the final moments.

"We worked together pretty well for the first game of the year," said Trojan coach Gene Briggs. "Our passing was a lot better than I thought it would be. But our ability to finish plays needs to get better."

Madison spent much of the game trying to come back from an early goal by Waterloo's Tom Finch, who circled out from the left side and scored on a good high

Trojans outslug Vandals, 32-0

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

VANDALIA — The first half was a thing of beauty. The second half was, well, close your eyes.

The Madison Trojans got the season off to a roaring start here Friday night with a 32-0 win over an outmanned Vandal team. But while the end result looks neat, the second half of the game was one of the sloppiest ever seen in these parts.

"We tried to get some other guys into the game in the second half, and they weren't ready to play," said Trojan coach Don Smith. "It was pretty sloppy, but I think our first-stringers would have made it a little better."

Not that Smith needed his big guns in the final 24 minutes. Madison scored on its first three possessions of the game and was never in serious trouble of losing. Angelo Cross kicked off his season with a big effort, picking up 208 yards in 21 carries. But the Vandalia defense took its toll on the Trojans' bruising fullback.

"We expected Angelo to do well," Smith said. "The defense was really pounding on him the whole game. There was a lot of grabbing at the face mask, and he lost a tooth. But he stayed tough."

It was a physical game, and the frustrations finally reached a fever pitch in the final 10 seconds when a brawl broke out on the field as Madison killed the clock. Several players from both teams left their benches to join in some pushing, kicking and wrestling before order was restored.

"It was a hot night, and I'm sure they were frustrated," Smith said. "I've been in that spot before. We didn't start that last thing, but there's no excuse for it. We had a couple of guys who got a little out of hand."

Vandalia coach Jim Lewis, whose team was 0-4 last year, hoped for better this year, but his team was simply overmatched.

"Cross sure is a fine runner," he said. "They've got him listed around 200 pounds, but he looks bigger than that. He's a good one." Lewis thought the officials could have done more to prevent the fracas late in the game.

"I don't think they handled things too well," he said. "There were some things going on during the game where they could have cracked down. And then our kids started things at the end."

"I spoke to them about it, and they will be dealt with. I don't know if the Madison coach will deal with any of his players, but that's up to him."

But back to the game. The Trojans wasted no time after the opening kickoff, as Cross bolted through the line on the third play of the game for a 45-yard touchdown run after only 89 seconds of play. Ricky Ball tried the middle of the line on the conversion, but was stopped.

The Vandals did nothing on their possession, and Madison started at its own 33. On the second play, Cross again slashed through the line and went down the left side for a 43-yard pickup to the Vandalia 29. He then got three yards on a fourth-and-1 play to the 17.

Quarterback Quincy Williams, who completed three of eight passes for 62 yards, then hit Bradley Papa, who made a great diving catch at the 1-yard line. Cross hammered it in from there to make it 12-0 with 4:06 left in the first quarter. But the Trojans again failed on a two-point conversion when Williams and Papa missed connections.

"We hope to have Robbie Poston kicking later in the year," Smith said. "But for now, we have to make those two-point conversions, and we only made one tonight."

The Trojans got their first first down when Ted Kemp jumped offside, but Steven Boyd fell on a fumble by quarterback Greg McDowell two plays later. The Trojans then went 37 yards in four plays, aided by a 15-yard penalty for a face mask violation. Lamont Prothro got 16 yards on a reverse, then scampered 21 yards down the left sideline for the score on the first play of the second quarter.

But James Haynes failed to crack it over on the conversion.

The Trojans put together another good drive, featuring a 12-yard pass from Williams to Prothro, but Jamie McNutt fell on a Trojan fumble at the 31-yard line to kill the threat.

Lester Buckles followed with an interception, but Cross fumbled the ball right back to Vandalia. The Vandals had only 24 total yards at halftime, compared to 256 for Madison.

The second half began ominously for Madison with a couple of illegal procedure calls and a delay of game. Then Poston got off a punt that went exactly three yards. After Madison again stopped Vandalia for nothing, 772 Blockton muffed a punt, putting the Vandals in business at the Madison 36. But three incomplete passes followed.

The Trojans got in gear again on a slashing 29-yard run by Cross and a 15-yard gain by Prothro to the Vandalia 26. After a procedure penalty, Williams hit Prothro, who made a leaping catch at the 5-yard line and fell into the end zone with 10:11 left in the game. This time Cross went over for two points to give the Trojans a 26-0 advantage.

The Trojans got one more chance to score when Matt Roberts fumbled and Jay Hamm fell on it at the Vandalia 17. Derek Treadway made two nice runs to set up Ball for a 3-yard plunge with 2:32 left.

The Vandals finally gained a first down on their own when Harrison gained nine yards on a run in the closing moments. It was only their third first down, with the first two coming because of Madison penalties. The Trojans were whistled for 15 penalties for 113 yards. The Vandals finished with only 41 yards of total offense, while Madison racked up 424 and 20 first downs.

"We knew they would be up for the game, but we matched up well. If we played our game, we shouldn't have had any trouble."

Prothro rushed for 59 yards on five carries, while Ball added 23 yards on five carries. Prothro also caught two passes for 44 yards and a touchdown.

The Trojans play their home game of the year this Friday night at 7:30 at Sam Dym Memorial Field against Columbia.

shot into the far corner behind Duane Rodgers at the 7:00 mark. Then, the litany of frustration began. Rovvy Clayton picked up a rebound at point-blank range and fired off the body of Bulldog goalie Ricky Layton. Then Shaun Coleman fired wide on a direct kick. Early in the second quarter, Sean Mosby directed a shot into the Waterloo goal, but the play was nullified because of offside. Neal Humiak's header was just wide at the 37:00 mark, then Martinez' header went up and over the goal just before halftime. The entire second quarter was played in Waterloo's half of the field.

The Trojans came out slow in the third quarter, but quickly turned it on. Mosby's header was stopped by Layton, then Martinez had two good chances, but he fanned on a clear shot at the 48:00 mark. Avery Ware had the best chance, coming down right wing, but he fanned on his shot.

Then, the Bulldogs struck in the early moments of the fourth quarter. Jimmy Breidecker picked up an errant pass about 15 yards in front of the Trojan set, as Madison was slow to cover. His shot somehow trickled by Rodgers and just crawled across the goal line at the 63:00 mark.

But the Trojans didn't give up. Martinez, only a freshman, didn't quit as he had a shot blocked at the defense. He picked up the rebound and sent a high shot into the far corner with 12 minutes left.

From then on, the Trojans pressed, and Coleman had the best chances in the final few minutes. He fired wide off a direct free kick, then sent a rocket on target with just a minute left, but Layton was able to tip it up over the goal. "Their goalie played well on a couple of shots, but most of our goals were right at him," Briggs said. "We missed on about six or seven headers and another four or five with the feet."

"I'll know a lot more about this team after our next game. We'll have to see how they react to this loss."

The Trojans are back in action with a pair of road games this week. They play in Bethalto at 4 p.m. Tuesday, then go to Mascoutah for a 4 p.m. game Thursday.
